

SIP PACIFIC NORTHWEST

14-day Wine Trail through Northern California, Southern Oregon, and the Willamette Valley.

Sip your way through the Pacific Northwest. Take a “winecation” through nine distinct regions across two amazing states (Oregon & California, of course!). Stay in first-rate accommodations and experience a delight of stunning views, endless vistas, and world-class attractions like Crater Lake National Park. With diverse growing appellations and micro-climates, the region is home to bold, varied and noteworthy wines. This 14-day itinerary begins in San Francisco, winds through the Sonoma and Mendocino wine regions, and up through the Northern California and Southern Oregon coast to Florence. From there, travel east to the famed Willamette Valley wine region near Eugene and surrounding areas.

The return trip leads you south through the scenic I-5 corridor and into Oregon’s oldest wine region, the Umpqua Valley near Roseburg. Visit artisan producers and family-run wineries of the entire Southern region, including the Rogue, Illinois, and Applegate Valleys. A day to travel to the high country and visit Crater Lake National Park is not to be missed. The trip concludes with a visit to Medford (experience the boutique wineries of the Bear Creek valley), to Ashland, and then to San Francisco. Experience a day... or two... or the whole 14-day adventure. www.southernoregon.org/tours/detaileddescription/SipNorthwest
